The Publishers take pleasure in calling attention to this book, belt ving that it fairly merits the epithet "extraordinary."

A member of Mr. Bescher's society, feeling impelied to catch and preserve some of the exquisite images, the truths crystalized into poetry, and the far-seeing, but genual window, which otherwise would have had no memorial save in the hearts of one bearers, made copious notes of his sermons, and from them has elected the volume of extracts now presented to the publis.

Whether it is regarded as a collection of literary gons, or as a series of striking thoughts on Christianity and its related themes, the book will not saffer by comparison with the most famous of similar compilations in the language.

The Publishers believe that, sooner or later, these LiffE THOUGHTS will be found in the hands of every reflecting reader in the country. It is not a "sensation book;" but it has so much of power and so much of beauty, that it will exert an influence which no generous, appreciative soul can resist.

SOMETHING NEW IN THE STRAW HAT TRADE.

The undersigned would respectfully represent, that for some years past they have appreciated the justice of the remarks made by the Trade while making their Spring purchases, vis: "That all new styles were introduced so late in the season, they were compassed to make their heaviest purchases without waiting thus pletch themselves under a disadvantage which the recalify and others who purchase inter avoided, instead of giving them the opportunity of better relactions from larger assortments, at prices to warrant their beavier purchases," and while assenting to the force of such representations, the undersigned have also endeavored to remedy the difficulty, so far as lies in their power. In furtherance of this desirable change, they now lattle special attention to the
